

IELTS Preparation – A Tremendous Boost to Improve Soft Skills

It is well known that the journey matters more than the destination. Similarly, any preparation that involves the enhancement of communication leads to exceptional soft skills. Soft skills are interpersonal skills and its core components involve verbal and non-verbal traits, listening and writing. While there is much more to it, however, the aforementioned core components are the basic building blocks of soft skills.

Let's look deeper into these skills:

Listening Skills

Facts:

- It's a fact that we listen to people at a maximum rate of 250 words per minute, but think at a maximum rate of 3,000 words per minute.
- Around 2-3 percent of our population have a formal training on how to listen.
- Whatever we have learned, 85% of it is through listening.
- We can recall around 50% of an immediate conversation and after 1-2 hour we remember less than 20% of that conversation.

Mantra to improve listening skills:

Listening is all about hearing, understanding and recalling it later. These are the 3 elements of a listening pyramid. An IELTS aspirant must take care of all 3 elements and strengthen his/her preparation regularly. IELTS Coaching in Delhi like Moveabroad™ helps you in improving your listening skills.

Reading Skills

Facts:

- Reading can have a therapeutic effect and could prevent Alzheimer's disease.
- Reading can improve your memory and boost your analytical thinking.
- We all are aware that reading expands one's vocabulary.
- Research shows that reading has a positive impact on both physical and mental health.
- Reading can alleviate one's stress by 50%, relaxes muscles and slows the heartbeat.

Mantra to improve reading skills:

Reading is a healthy habit that has loads of positives. It's a habit and it develops gradually. IELTS aspirants should develop a reading habit as early as possible. IELTS Classes in Delhi like Moveabroad™ helps you in improving your reading skills.

Writing Skills

Facts:

- Clear writing indicates clear thinking and will help one to communicate succinctly.
- Good writing skills help in communicating with great clarity.
- A writer with great writing skills will have no problem in dealing with tough articulation.

Mantra to improve writing skills:

Writing requires a pen and a piece of paper. In the digital world, even those are not required. Moreover, it requires a minimum investment. Writing skills improve gradually and requires a step-by-step approach. Grammar expertise is difficult to gain; therefore, only an early start will help an IELTS aspirant in enhancing their writing skills. IELTS Training in Delhi like Moveabroad™ helps you in improving your writing skills.

Speaking Skills

Facts:

- It improves the possibility to take leadership in a group.
- It helps to eliminate cultural and social barriers.
- Improves vocabulary and fluency in speech.
- Helps in eliminating fear factor if asked to give an extempore or spontaneous speech.
- Significantly helps in expanding your social network.

Mantra to improve speaking skills:

The best way to improve speaking skills is to start speaking in the first place. Not every IELTS aspirant has remarkable speech fluency. One is bound to make mistakes but these can be realized immediately. Without further contemplation, one can judge their speech and learn from his/her mistakes. IELTS Institute in Delhi like Moveabroad™ helps you in improving your speaking skills.

An IELTS aspirant must focus on all these interpersonal skills. Moreover, one can't afford to focus on one skill while ignoring the other. In a nutshell, cumulative efforts on all fronts will help an IELTS aspirant pass with flying colors!